MATT JUDA JOINS CCA BOARD

The CCA Board is pleased to announce that it unanimously approved Matt Juda as Director to fill an open position that will run through December 2018.

If you want something done, give it to a busy person! If that saying is true, then the CCA Board has the right man for the job in Matt Juda.

Matt has lived in the Charlotte neighborhood since October, 2014. He is a science teacher for Rochester City School District, where he has worked for 13 years, and teaches Biology at Edison Tech (he's achieved the degree of Doctorate of Education Leadership from the U of R). He also owns his own crafting company, Matthew Juda Glassworks, where he is a glass artist and creates and sells fused glass (plates, bowls and jewelry); the company has also recently expanded into Make & Take Parties where participants create home décor items out of wood, paint, and vinyl decals while enjoying the company of friends.

In addition to volunteering with CCA, Matt volunteers with the Out Alliance (formerly the Gay Alliance).

Matt "believes in the community having the proper balance of reflecting on our history while developing for a future community that is a vibrant all year round. We should be a "Park Ave on the Water."

His favorite thing to do in Charlotte is to visit local businesses and talk to owners and residents.

When asked what he hopes to accomplish while being on the board he says, "I'd like to see the work that we are doing with the charrette continue. I would also like to see the community branded and marketed as a year-round area that is vibrant and happening. I would like to see more community events both for the local neighbors and the community at large. I want to reach out to other communities, labor groups, and organizations to really highlight the amazing things we have happening here in Charlotte. Several of the areas that I would like to work on as a Board member is diversifying our organizations membership, expanding our programing to include more social events and to ensure fiscal solvency through new and innovative approaches to fundraising."

Update: New York State Senate
Joe Robach
Tax Relief for Middle Class Families

It is no secret that New York's taxpayers need and deserve real tax relief.

As the debate over tax reform continues in Washington D.C., I wanted to let you know about New York State's landmark middle-class tax cut that took effect on January 1st.

Authored by my colleagues and me in the Senate Republican Conference, these tax cuts will save taxpayers billions of dollars of their hard-earned money and help tens of thousands of small businesses grow, thrive, and create new jobs.

One of the largest tax cuts in state history, it will reduce middle-class tax rates by 20 percent and ultimately provide $4.2 billion in annual savings for individuals and small businesses.

Specifically, the tax cut plan reduces personal income tax rates for more than 4.4 million New Yorkers and tens of thousands of small businesses in the first year alone. For middle-class taxpayers, savings will average approximately $250 in 2018 and grow to $700 annually. The cuts will save a total of $6.6 billion in just the first four years.

We have successfully fought to control state spending, cap local property taxes and soon, help millions of middle-class taxpayers keep more of their income to invest and spend as they see fit.

This tax savings will continue to be key to creating better opportunities for middle-class New Yorkers and ensuring our state is more affordable for both businesses and families.

Update: New York State Assembly
Joe Morelle
Uncertainty in 2018

As we start the new year, I extend my warmest thoughts and best wishes for a year filled with health, happiness, and prosperity for all.

As our nation continues to face uncertain times, it is more important than ever that we work together to create opportunity and lay a foundation for a better future for every child and family who calls New York home. We must ensure that, many years from now, New York's legacy continues to be one of strong educational opportunity, of social equality, of vibrant economic promise.

My colleagues and I will continue to work tirelessly to advance this legacy and support the hard-working families of Rochester and throughout New York State. Together, there is nothing we can't accomplish.

As always, if I can ever be of assistance to you, please don't hesitate to contact my office.

I hope you and your family had a happy and healthy holiday season. I look forward to continuing to fight for the Charlotte community at the State Capitol this year!

Update: Molly Clifford
Northwest City Council Member

As I'm sure you are aware, the City Council has been considering making changes to the City's civilian review process for complaints against the Rochester Police Department. Several incidents over the past few years, both locally and nationally, have brought increased attention to how we deal with cases of excessive use of force, in particular.

A local group called "Enough is Enough" has done some research and outreach around the issue and has even drafted potential legislation for Council to consider. Council also asked the Center for Governmental Research to survey communities around New York State and report back to us on how their civilian review efforts are organized and whether or not they are successful.

In addition, Council subpoenaed records related to the Rickey Bryant case, in which a young man was apprehended, questioned and released after reports of shots fired after the Puerto Rican Festival. Bryant subsequently sued the City for excessive use of force during the apprehension. Council wanted to use the case to familiarize ourselves with the processes used by the RPD, its internal investigators, the Civilian Review Board (CRB), and the Police Chief to make decisions about whether the force used, as well as the policies and procedures followed, were appropriate. It was definitely a helpful exercise.

For me, there are a couple of issues that are particularly important. One, the public must trust the process. While the investigation of these cases is necessarily comprehensive and time consuming, those involved need to do a better job of communicating the seriousness of the cases. Second, as the Police Chief is the final arbiter on issues of discipline related to these matters, s/he must report the reasons for the findings, particularly if they are different than those of the CRB. Lastly, if we are to increase citizen influence in the process, we must be very careful to define their roles, how they are chosen and how they are trained. It is in everyone's best interest that this process is as open and objective as possible. There will be more discussion over the next few months – please feel free to share your thoughts with me and other Council members!
